

Be the Real Influencer: Choose Not to Drive High

Opinion

"I've never been caught before, so I won't get in trouble."

All it takes is one traffic stop or accident. Police can test for cannabis, and a DUI can mean fines, losing your license, or even jail, stuff that follows you for years.

Opinion

"I drive better when I'm high.
I'm more focused."

Fact

Cannabis slows your reaction time, messes with coordination, and makes it harder to stay in your lane.

You might feel focused, but your brain and body are not.

Opinion

"Weed is natural, so it's safe."

Fact

Poison ivy is natural too, it doesn't mean you want it on your skin.

"Natural" doesn't equal safe, specially when you're behind the wheel.

Opinion

"It's not as bad as drinking and driving."

Fact

Different substance, same risk. Cannabis makes it just as dangerous to drive.

Slowed reflexes, bad decisions, and higher crash risk.

Opinion

"If I get pulled over, I'll just say I'm tired."

Fact

Officers are trained to spot cannabis Impairment.

If you're high, they'll know. And "I was tired" doesn't save you from a DUI.

Bottom line

Driving high isn't safe, smart, or worth the risk.
Protect yourself and your friends. Don't drive after using cannabis.
